Over the last 25 years, the federal government has made a concerted effort to find out why so many children struggle with learning to read. This research has yielded a rough consensus on the best ways to teach reading, and we now know much more about how to identify children at risk and how to intervene effectively. The challenge that remains is getting this research-based

The line bar = foo does not copy the contents of the variable, only its "object reference". To understand what is going on here, we need to know how lists are stored in the computer's memory. In 4.1, we see that a list foo is a reference to an object stored at location 3133 (which is itself a series of pointers to other locations holding strings). When we assign bar = foo, it is just the ...
